support the order for this conference and the passing of the bill, and I call on every citizen of Lawrence to join with me in urging our legislative representatives to do this.

A heavy downpour of rain failed to dampen the enthusiasm of the meeting, and the remarks of the various speakers were greeted with warm applause.

Representative Martin Hays of Ward 5, Brighton, father of the rent legislation, explained the history of his bill. He dwelt upon the fact that he wished to see fair landlords, and called attention to the fact that as soon as his bill is fair to landlords, many of the leading rent-seekers have withdrawn.

He also explained the purpose of his order, which is to give justice to both sides in the housing crisis, and to give justice to both sides in the housing crisis, and to give justice to both sides in the housing crisis.

Bolshevik Delegation Already Appointed, Declares Foreign Minister

Correspondence of the International News Service and London Daily Express.

Moscow, April 2.—Peace between Soviet Russia and Great Britain is in sight, it was declared by the Russian Foreign Minister, G. V. Chicherin, today.

"The peace of peace is now being negotiated between Russia and the other nations," he said.

Woman Drinks, Smokes to Age of 105

London, April 2.—Betty Arnold, 105 years old, at least, but who claimed to remember the battle of Waterloo, is dead in Brynnyr. She drank whiskey and smoked a pipe all her life.

Betty was born in Skilbourn, County Cork. Her husband, with whom she lived for 40 years, died before her death at an old age.

She had a great deal of money, and was a great favorite of her neighbors.

"We must go into all matters having a bearing upon our contention that Mr. Croker is at present in a position to receive a bill of particulars."

"We would not have emboldened these charges in our complaint if we had not been forced to bring forward a bill of particulars."

Another figure in the case said that it will require several days to assemble Mr. Croker properly on the stand, the present was advised.

CAME OUT A MILLIONAIRE. "Lawyers for the Croker children are armed with a mass of data bearing on the career of Mr. and Mrs. Croker."

The former boss of Tammany Hall will be in the witness box for several days, it is believed. The Croker children have been forgotten—those that were not forgotten during the political career of New York.

MEXICO TRYING TO GET BANDITS

Washington Does Not Think Recent Outrages Will Lead to Serious Developments

By International News Service.

Washington, April 2.—The Mexican government will take every possible step for the punishment of the perpetrators of the latest outrages against Americans, according to State Department officials today. They are not inclined to believe that the latest series of attacks against Americans will lead to serious developments.

Secretary Chubb's strong protest is expected to bring prompt action from the Mexican foreign office. There is no information to indicate that the attacks upon the train upon which Major Edward W. Burr, assistant military attaché at the American embassy at Mexico City, and other Americans were traveling, was planned as an attack upon an official of the United States.

Details as to the murder of A. J. Jackson of Brooklyn, near Toluca, are lacking, and it was impossible for officials to fix the cause of this incident.

What would you do if your daughter was the victim of a bogus marriage?

OR if you were in love with the daughter? Or if you were the other girl engaged to the man? Or if you were the other man in love with the girl? Complicated, eh?

The Paliser Case is the latest and greatest story of Edgar Salts, one of the most brilliant writers in America's literary armament, and is so rife with great dramatic situations, and so teeming with emotionalism, that Mr. Salts wisely decided that only Goldwyn could produce it and none but Pauline Frederick could enact the tremendous role of the woman 'round whom this thrilling drama revolves.

FEAR NEW WAR WILL BREAK OUT

Possibility of Great Conflict Said to Be Behind U. S. Naval Preparations

By International News Service. Washington, April 3.—A new growing fear that perhaps after all the horrors of another and perhaps still more disastrous world war is not beyond the range of possibilities, lies behind the plans for the modern military machine now being devised for the United States.

Disillusionment, rather than the "menace" of Japan, which Secretary of the Navy Daniels denied he favored before the Senate Committee on Naval Affairs yesterday, is admitted behind the advocacy of "preparedness" in the matter of the development of an armament.

It is the "unpleasant condition of the world today," he said before a Congressional committee, that has led to the development of an armament. "Our navy must be prepared for any emergency," adding, later, that "either every nation must enter into an agreement to preserve the peace of the world, without compromise, or we must have an incomparably the biggest navy in the world."

Despite the Secretary's denial that he favored the Senate Committee on Naval Affairs yesterday, it is admitted behind the advocacy of "preparedness" in the matter of the development of an armament.

It is the "unpleasant condition of the world today," he said before a Congressional committee, that has led to the development of an armament.

Palmer Says 40-Cent Coal Rise Is Enough

Washington, April 3.—After nearly a year of his instructions to districts to probe the rise in wholesale coal prices from $12.15 to $12.55, said:

"The total annual production is approximately 300,000,000 tons. It is estimated that the total increase in wages will be approximately $20,000,000 per annum. If this entire amount is added to the increase in the price, it would only make an increase of 40 cents a ton. Please receive and consider complaints of protesting which may arise in your district under the latter act."

STAYS PARIS WILL DICTATE STYLES

New York or London Can Never Take the Lead, According to Textile Experts

By International News Service. New York, April 3.—Try as they will, neither New York nor London can place Paris as a dictator of the world fashions, according to M. Ruch, French textile manufacturer. "After the first few months of the war American buyers returning from Paris declared that the style on the whole was entirely too sombre," said M. Ruch. "Then America entered the war, and there began on the one side of the Atlantic a campaign against the French and such great simplification in producing fabrics that it was the United States that should have been the fashion leader."

It was asserted by a number of American buyers who disliked clothing the Americans while the German magazine campaign was on. But those who came bought an usual and went back home satisfied.

Only a short time after the armistice the Paris again began to be invaded by buyers from all over the world, and they are still coming. Paris is the fashion center of the world and he right to that title cannot be lost.

It is because here, more than anywhere else, people give themselves over to fashionable taste, there are dealers without number in the city, and restaurants and cafes nearly every day of the year. It is these things that make Paris the center of fashion from which emanate the best fashions."

ANITA STEWARTS FROM MOVIES ON A HILL

Anita Stewart, one of the most interesting of the younger feminine stars of silent drama, evidently believes that remoteness from one's daily task during the hours of recreation from labor inspires keener interest in work and greater efficiency in its execution than any constant saturation in the glare of the Cooper-Hewitt. Possibly the idea is that proximity to the daily job dulls the artist's ardor, or maybe that familiarity breeds contempt; but whatever the reason, she has been so constant and so good, that her work has been a masterpiece of continuous and good. However that may be, Miss Stewart took every reasonable precaution. When not at the studio, she rests after the movie high up in a new mountain-top house.

Anita Stewart selected the peak of a tolerably high mountain as the scene for her picture, "Anita Stewart," which is the story of a Spanish style mansion. No doubt the picture will be a success, for the screen beauty's mind is distracted from all thoughts of make-up, camera and megaphone. She is alone and the air is clear and crisp and pure, and flowers grow in profusion in the garden. The hill that is also prolific in its own annual crop of fruits and vegetables of various kinds.

Here also lives Miss Stewart's husband—Rudolph. He is a young man, a good-looking fellow, and her mother and younger brother, George. Another character, a member of the household is a full-blooded Indian, who has not a word of English, but who has a great deal of respectability that even upon his guardian of his mistress's mansion among the clouds.
